The Colorado Address Confidentiality Program (ACP) is a statewide program that is available to men, women, and children.

Program Eligibility

1. An applicant must be a survivor of actual or threatened sexual assault, domestic violence, or stalking/harassment who fears for his or her safety.
2. The survivor must provide evidence of victimization.
3. The survivor must have relocated within the past 90 days or be planning to relocate within the State.

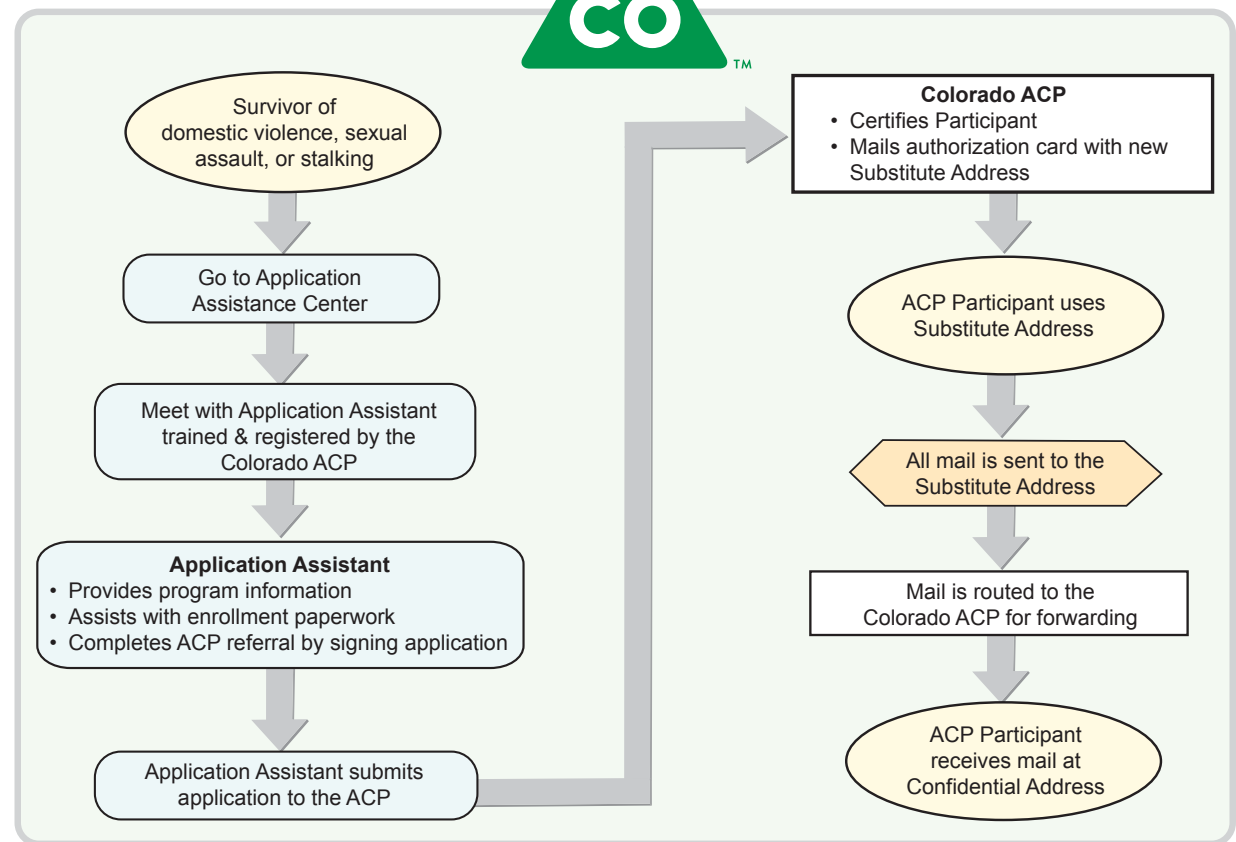

Note: Eligibility not based on income.

Program Enrollment

Those interested in enrolling in the ACP must meet with an application assistant. A list of application assistants and enrolling agencies can be found on the ACP website under the Application Process, "Application Center Locations."

How the ACP works

Participant Certification

ACP certification is valid for four years. Participants may cancel their enrollment at any time.

Authorization Cards

ACP authorization cards identify program participants and authorize the legal use of the substitute address.

Participant Voter Registration

ACP participants are provided with a specialized process and forms for registering or (re)registering to vote. ACP participant addresses are protected to the fullest extent possible under Colorado Law.

Program Laws

The ACP laws can be found at §24-30-2101, et. seq. C.R.S.
